Subject: Conflict Minerals

Dear Customer:

As a valued customer, we at Delphi want to make sure you know that we are committed to complying with the conflict minerals requirements of the Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act. Consistent with that commitment, Delphi is working with auto manufacturers and suppliers through AIAG (Automotive Industry Action Group) and the Conflict-Free Smelter (“CFS”) Program developed by the Electronic Industry Citizenship Coalition, Incorporated (“EICC”) and Global e-Sustainability Initiative (“GeSI”) to assess reporting and due diligence obligations and implement an appropriate reporting program.

As part of our efforts to ensure sourcing of conflict-free goods, we are surveying our global supply chain to identify measures being taken by our suppliers to track the source of minerals used in products manufactured at their facilities. Delphi also is developing processes in order to comply with the additional aspects of the SEC conflict minerals rule. Due to the size and complexity of our company, a single company- wide response is appropriate for providing customer confirmation of compliance. We plan to provide our first customer update, which will incorporate responses from our supply base, in the fourth quarter of 2013, in order to assure that our customers have time to comply with any U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission reporting requirements that may apply to them. Delphi can provide this information within the iPoint Conflict Minerals Platform (iPCMP www.conflict-minerals.com). Alternatively, the Conflict Minerals Reporting Template from the EICC/GeSI website (www.conflictfreesmelter.org) can be provided.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions concerning this communication.

Sincerely,

Lynne Work
